Philadelphia, 9/26 1893

My dear Son,

Since hurriedly closing my letter of this morn'g I have again read it & this time with care. I can say that I feel encouraged. I will make use of subjects not already alluded to, in order of letter.
I am in better shape personally than for some time past, having had two days at Abbecon and the weather is cooler after an exhausting hot spell.
Mrs. Morgan sent us a Chronicle giving an account of the S. P. hot days - unusual there.
I am glad that you have it so delightful at last.
Your decision regarding being away from Jamestown on "afternoon" is correct and I doubt if mamma will be able to go until the end of summer so we may not get there at the same time yet.

The same reason's will, to a certain extent, militate against your examination of Bunker & Cold Mayflower property but unless that is done soon the conditions, now so favorable, may not continue. I intend to decline this examination, and that it should be thorough, very much - for each day I am more convinced that C. will not be
